

Realigning and restricting the river will result in sediment loading. Air-born salt and other by-products will impact the drinking water in the Glenmore Reservoir. The wetlands contribute to maintaining water quality filtering and cleaning water prior to entering the Glenmore reservoir and we fear this has not been considered in the latest road design plans.